PORT-AU-PRINCE — IT HAPPENED, aptly on "miracle" street.

Two weeks after a catastrophic earthquake, US troops pulled a man alive from under a collapsed building in Haiti's capital on Tuesday as UN troops spurred new gas at investors desperate for food.

The man, covered in dust and dressed only in underwear, was rescued by soldiers of the 82nd Airborne Division from a ruined house—believe it or not—on Rue de Miracle (Street of Miracles), in downtown Port-au-Prince, a Reuters witness reported.

US authorities identified him as 31-year-old and said he had

Carpio seeks SC job but ...

Most senior SC justice won't take it from GMA

By Norman Bandadara

HE IS INTERESTED IN being Chief Justice all right, but will consent to be appointed only by the country's next President and not by President Macapagal-Arroyo.

In a Jan. 26 letter to the Judicial and Bar Council (JBC), Associate Justice Antonio Carpio said he was interested in being considered for nomination as Chief Justice, but "on the understanding" that the JBC submit his nomination only to the next President.

Carpio's explanation that the next Chief Justice should be appointed by the country's next President adds to the many issues being debated on the appointment of Chief Justice Renato Corona's successor.

Carpio cited as his reason the constitutional law against the President making appointments from March 31, 2010 until June 30, 2010, when Mr. Arroyo's term expires.

If seniority were the only consideration, Carpio, the most senior Supreme Court justice, would be in line to succeed Corona when the latter retires on May 17.

10-pt. education reform campaign launched to elect 'Education President'

By Philip C. Tulera

EDUCATION NATION, A COALITION of captains of industry and other concerned citizens, yesterday launched a campaign for reforms to save the Philippine education system from collapse.

The coalition presented its 10-Point Education Reform Agenda and offered it to presidential candidates in an effort to make education the No. 1 issue in the May elections.

"We at Education Nation are saying 'Enough!' We cannot simply sit back and watch our education system further deteriorate in the hands of a government that has shown little concern for the plight of millions of Filipino children," Ramon del Rosario Jr., chair of the Philippine Business for Education (PBE), said at the launch held at the Asian Institute of Management (AIM) in Makati City.

"What we are saying is that we really need an Education President, because... we have so many at the very top somebody who is ready to call the shots and enforce the policies, if we are to reform education," said Guillermo de Jesus.

Mangudadatu blames Palace for failure to stop 'violent' Ampatuans

By Marlon Rames and Cathy C. Yanezas

FORMER DEFENSE SECRETARY GILBERT Teodoro and other Mindanao officials know of the violent nature of the Ampatuans but failed to stop them from bullying other political rivals in Mindanao.

This was part of the painful testimony of Vice Mayor Ernest "Toni" Mangudadatu of Davao, Mindanao, at the resumption yesterday of the hearing for the bail position of Datu 1st Mayor Ernesto Mangudatu Jr., the principal suspect in the Nov. 23 massacre of 37 people in the province.

Mangudadatu, 41, lost his wife, two sisters and an aunt in the bloodbath that also left at least 30 parishioners and monks non-dead.

Clad in a black coat over a light blue shirt, the witness handed a copy of the Q/A to his lawyer before and after testifying.

He told the court of Judge Jocelyn Solis Reyes that Palace officials had tried to eliminate him from Mindanao. Mangudatu Jr. is the next big name in the May elections.

Meralco defers hike in power charges

By Amy R. Bove

THE MANILA ELECTRIC CO. (Meralco), the country's biggest power distributor, is postponing the implementation of its increase in electricity rates to 2013, after the Energy Regulatory Commission (ERC) said Thursday that the regulator will allow the price increase to be implemented in 2013.

In a filing with the Energy Regulatory Commission (ERC) last Thursday, Meralco said the regulator will allow the price increase to be implemented in 2013.

Meralco has requested a rate increase of 10 percent, or 10.5 percent, for 2012, but the regulator has not yet approved the request. Meralco said it will continue to monitor the situation and will file a new request if the regulator does not approve the current one.

Censor pornography in Internet

THE CONFLICT BETWEEN Google and China brings up the matter of pornography through the Internet. In the Philippines, too, Google, the Internet pioneer, has threatened to pull China out of its market for its stance against its censorship policy and alleged lack of freedom of expression. The Internet is a double-edged sword. It has helped Google, with Secretary of Trade Hilary Clinton denouncing the alleged censorship of Google in China, China claims that Google has not observed its laws prohibiting pornography in the Internet.

It is an accepted principle of international law that a nation is sovereign within its borders. It has the right to set laws and regulations. It is not a recognized principle that pornography and obscene materials are exempt from these laws. This directly undermines public and private morals, violating a basic value of our society.

According to the Philippine Copyright Act, Article 225 of the Revised Penal Code books classified into three levels, to display, sell, circulate, or otherwise make available to the public, obscene or indecent plays, movies, acts or shows which "tend to excite lusts or to satisfy the morbid or vulgar tastes or to corrupt the mind or to degrade the person." The phrase "in any other place" throughout the Internet was, especially because it "tends to excite lusts or to satisfy the morbid or vulgar tastes or to corrupt the mind or to degrade the person."

It is well known that in the Philippines pornography, often as materials can be viewed just by the click of the mouse. Does not give rise to young adults or even young men, especially pornography, are able to access such pornography. This directly undermines public and private morals, violating a basic value of our society.

Who are the real liars in the Senate?

TO ACCUSE THE 12 SENATORS who signed the report on Senator Vilma's eligibility in the 12th Congress project of political correctness is a disingenuous attempt to twisting the facts, and a self-politically motivated. The so-called liars in the Senate are not the 12 senators who signed the report. The liars are the 12 senators who signed the report.

By signing the report, the 12 senators have shown their support for a corrupt and dishonest Senator. They have shown their support for a corrupt and dishonest Senator. They have shown their support for a corrupt and dishonest Senator.

Making presidential debates more useful

THE VILLAIN LAMARQUE USED for some senators during the C-5 road "amnesty" controversy showed the human side of supposedly incorruptible legislators.

By Winston L. Kiese

THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS and Highways (DPWH) today said that the roof of the landmark Quirino Grandstand in Manila Park could collapse and recommended that it be closed to the public for repairs.

The DPWH Building Inspection Team, led by Assistant Secretary Rodolfo A. Villanueva, said that the roof of the building is in a state of disrepair.

DPWH Manila chief Edilberto L. Lugo, who recommended the temporary closure of the grandstand, estimated the cost of the repair to reach P24 million.

"We have to determine the depth of the cracks and subject the structure to further inspection for reinforcement and transportation."

There is a need for immediate repairs and to support temporarily the use of Quirino Grandstand, said Lugo, an engineer.

The 3,000 square meter grandstand, which is located near Manila Park, is the site of many holding ceremonies for past presidents of the Republic. It is also used as a venue for concerts and private parties.

The DPWH inspection team also called for the rehabilitation of Quirino Grandstand on the south-bound stretch of the busy Lungsod Highway.

The bridge, according to inspection, shows extensive heavy repair work.

There said the bridge's deck also should be replaced and concrete should be added to strengthen the bridge.

The rehabilitation of the bridge would cost P25 million, he added.

Sri Lanka president reelected

COLOMBO—SRI LANKA'S PRESIDENT, Mahinda Rajapaksa, has been reelected in a landslide victory, winning 58.5 percent of the vote in a runoff election held on Tuesday.

President Rajapaksa's victory was a surprise, as he had been widely expected to lose to his opponent, Maumoon Abdul Gayoom, in a runoff election held on Tuesday.

The two sides who had lost in the first round of the election, the United National Front (UNF) and the Sri Lanka Freedom Party (SLFP), both lost in the runoff.

"The president has received a remarkable victory with a more than 1.5 million vote majority," said Rajapaksa.

Rajapaksa said he would seek a new mandate in his place in the event of a runoff.

Maumoon Abdul Gayoom, who had been widely expected to win, said he would accept the result.

Two Koreas trade fire, North vows no let up

SEOUL—NORTH AND SOUTH KOREA TRADED artillery fire near their disputed sea border on Wednesday and Pyongyang vowed to press on with live firing exercises, ratcheting up tensions anew between the Cold War foes.

"Each firing drill by the south of the DMZ will go on in the same manner in the future," the North Korean People's Army General Staff said in a statement, issued after its first round of the firing drill.

South Korea responded that the North's artillery fire is a "grave provocation" and vowed it would respond similarly to the North's provocations.

South Korea's land artillery batteries fired about 30 shells over the sea border, the South's defense ministry said.

South Korea's Ministry of Defense said it would respond to the North's firing drill by firing its own artillery.

"It will be a game-changer for the media," said Tim O'Reilly, a tech analyst.

Apple's new tablet is expected to be released in the second half of 2010.

Advertising revenue is expected to be a major source of income for the new device.

Jan. inflation seen to accelerate to 4.5-5.4%

Rising household demand affects commodity prices

By Michelle Y. Reyes

THE BANGKO SENTRAL NG Pilipinas said inflation in January likely accelerated to between 4.5 and 5.4 percent, as the gradual recovery of the economy helped boost households' demand for food and other basic commodities.

In December, inflation stood at an annual rate of 4.4 percent, the bureau said.

According to analysts, lower than expected prices may be expected this year as the global economy gradually recovers from the recent financial crisis.

"The agencies are confident in its return to prices of selected food items, such as rice and sugar, and rates of utilities and domestic prices of oil," BSP Governor Amanda Tamarag said yesterday.

Despite the lower rate in prices, Tamarag said the central bank remained confident that the year's inflation would remain within the target range of 3.5 and 5.5 percent. He said that any increase in demand spurred by the global recovery would not be substantial enough to move it above the inflation target.

In 2009, inflation stood at an average of 3.2 percent, well within the government's target of between 3.5 and 5.5 percent.

The BSP's Monetary Board will consider its monetary policy in the price of food, oil and other commodities when it sets down today its monetary policy.

The central bank is expected to keep liquidity rates at a historic low of 4 percent despite rising inflation. It may also implement other measures to temper growth of liquidity in the economy.

In an earlier interview, Tamarag said the BSP would likely reverse liquidity expansion measures due before raising key policy rates.

Liquidity enhancement measures include an increase in the budget for refinancing by the BSP and lowering of the refinancing rate.

The economy, however, is in a state of growth.

APC group undertaking capital restructuring

Firm seen embarking soon on geothermal power projects

By Don C. Dunbar

HOUSTON PHILAM GROUP INC., an affiliate of property and gaming firm Bellco Corp., is embarking on a quasi-reorganization that aims to solve about $7.7 million in capital deficits.

Over the capital deficit is addressed, APC plans to expand into geothermal power projects. APC also filed with the Philippine Stock Exchange, APC said in a brief last approved the listing of the new value of the company's shares which, in turn, would result in the reduction of its accumulated losses by about half.

The PSE implemented a one-hour trading halt on APC trading at 11:30 a.m., yesterday as it sought additional information on the company's capital restructuring.

"The new par value and the exact amount of the company's shares and the exact amount of the resulting reduction in deficit will be decided after further study and consultation," it said. Related earnings refer to the portion of net income that is retained by the corporation rather than distributed to its owners or shareholders. If the corporation booked a loss, the entry would be retained losses, accumulated losses or accumulated deficit.

APC has booked retained losses in previous years, resulting in a cumulative deficit of about $7.7 million as of end 2008. It, however, carried a profit of $200,000 in 2009 due to the increase in the value of its investment in stocks.

From January to September last year, APC posted a net income of P31.3 million compared to loss of P11.07 million in the same period a year ago.

APC, which has a P105-million balance sheet, has investments in energy-related projects, mining and manganese processing businesses, telecommunications (now a minority shareholder) and a cement project which has been discontinued.

It was actively involved in previous trading operations until June 2009 when it shut down its business.

The company has a fully owned subsidiary called Investment and General Services Inc. (IGSI), a company engaged in investing and managing real-estate services. Other subsidiaries include Angkor Power and Energy Corp., Baguio Coal Resources Inc., and APC Mining Corp.

APC also has a minority participation in Philippine Global Communications Inc.

Cepalco gets ERB go-ahead for CDO power plant

THE ENERGY REGULATORY COMMISSION has allowed Cepalco, Electric Power and Light Co. Inc. (Cepalco) to continue operating its 950-kilowatt solar photovoltaic power plant in Cagayan de Oro City.

According to the ERC, it entered an Order of Compliance (OOC) for Cepalco, which is being issued to a power generation company found to be in violation of technical, financial and environmental standards that are specified in the ERC guidelines.

The issuance of an OOC, usually allows the company to continue its operations.

"Cepalco's photovoltaic plant is very innovative for many reasons. It uses renewable solar energy to generate electricity and it helps in meeting Cagayan de Oro City's energy needs using the latest design of the cooperative use of a hybrid plant," said ERC chief executive officer, Ricardo S. Ibarra.

The facility started its commercial operations in September 2004 after securing its first CDO from the ERC.

The plant is connected to the existing distribution line of Cepalco with an annual energy generation of 1.1 million kilowatt-hours. According to the ERC, the photovoltaic plant discharges harmful air and noise around 24,000 tons of carbon compound emissions into the environment.

Cepalco operates the photovoltaic plant in conjunction with its 7-megawatt (MW) hydroelectric power plant, which also uses the plant's output to generate electricity.

The photovoltaic plant is designed to be a complementary use with the 7-MW hydro plant. It is also strategically located, being a distributed resource, which enables Cepalco to deliver response to the needs of some local customers.

According to the ERC, the photovoltaic plant provides 1.55 percent of the maximum capacity capability in the Cagayan de Oro City area.

Cepalco's solar facility, which also has a 2.5-megawatt (MW) solar power plant, is a "hybrid" solar power plant that uses multiple technologies. "So far, the PV plant does not use any fossil fuel and does not emit greenhouse gases in the process. The PV plant does not generate any kind of noise since there are no moving parts. It also does not need large storage batteries to store the generated energy since the power generated by the PV plant is fed directly to the distribution system," the ERC said.

Asia stocks fall on China jitters, concerns over Fed meet; yen gains

SINGAPORE—ASIAN STOCKS fell for the eighth straight day yesterday as fears that China's high-speed growth is slowing could weaken the global economic recovery.

Investors were also nervous ahead of the conclusion of a two-day policy meeting by the US Federal Reserve last week to the day.

The meeting is expected to yield little in terms of a new rate policy shift. But traders will watch for a Fed statement to reveal how close to zero bank rates may have to stay to stimulate economic growth and keep money policy in place, and for updates on the health of the US economy.

The meeting is taking place amid a fierce Senate debate over whether Chairman Ben Bernanke should be appointed for a second term, which has also weighed on investor confidence this week.

The MSCI index of Asia Pacific stocks outside Japan fell 1.1 percent yesterday, underperforming local equity gains.

The index slid 2 percent on Monday to its lowest in two months after China implemented a six to eight month moratorium on stock market purchases to curb stock prices.

Japan's Nikkei average fell 0.7 percent to its lowest in two months, while South Korean stock index fell 0.7 percent to a seven-week low with investors weighed by reports South and North Korean forces exchanged gunfire.

Many investors had been pricing in a smoother and stronger economic rebound this year, which would justify higher share valuations.

Now that investors are growing about the pace and depth of a recovery, share prices are highly vulnerable to a correction, especially after many global indices have rallied more than 60 percent from lows seen in March last year.

The yen, seen as a safe haven in times of market turmoil, gained heavily as investors dumped high-risk assets.

Asian developing countries all set for growth, IMF says

WASHINGTON—ASIAN DEVELOPING economies are seeing acceleration in 2010, led by an expected 5.5 percent growth rate by China, the IMF forecast Tuesday, with the region's recovery likely to be a global phenomenon.

The International Monetary Fund's latest report says that Asian developing economies were set to grow at an average of 4.5 percent this year as well as in 2011, compared with 4.5 percent in 2009.

In its World Economic Outlook update released Tuesday, the Washington-based fund said Asian developing economies were set to grow at an average of 4.5 percent this year as well as in 2011, compared with 4.5 percent in 2009.

China, the traditional global growth driver, was likely to post 10 percent growth this year, the IMF said, rising to six percent next year as 9 percent forecast made in October.

China's economy expanded 6.7 percent in 2009.

China's gross domestic product, a broad measure of a nation's goods and services output, remained at double-digit growth in the fourth quarter of 2009 at 18.7 percent, Chinese authorities said last month.

The pace surprised the government's target of 5 percent, a level that is seen as crucial to boost job creation and drive off social unrest in China's vast population of 1.3 billion people.

The fund said "key emerging economies in Asia on leading the global recovery" as the region became the first to rebound from a global downturn stemming from the stress financial crisis in America.

India is expected to join China in posting big gains in growth in Asia this year and in 2011, the IMF said.

India should post 7.7 percent growth in 2010, it said, rising to 8.7 percent next year as 7.7 percent forecast in October.

Japan is poised to emerge with a growth of 1.7 percent in 2010—unchanged from the last forecast—after a sharp 5.5 percent contraction last year, the IMF said, adding that Asia's richer economies could remain near 2.2 percent next year.

The fund also said that the Southeast Asian economies of Indonesia, Malaysia, the Philippines, Singapore and Thailand were forecast to grow at slightly better average of 4.7 percent in 2010 from 4.2 percent last year.

The IMF also says rapid output in 2010 is the world's strongest recovery.

Stronger economic recovery and swift policy responses have helped many emerging economies to cushion the impact of the unprecedented external shock and quickly re-attract capital flows," it said.

Japan's exports grow for first time in 15 mos.

TOKYO—JAPAN'S EXPORTS grew for the first time in 15 months in December as Asian demand helped recovery in the world's second biggest economy.

Exports jumped 13.1 percent from a year earlier to 1.1 billion yen ($9.6 billion), the month, the finance ministry said Wednesday.

Year-to-date exports, which account for more than half of Japan's total shipments, jumped 30.2 percent to 3.8 trillion yen, the ministry said.

Exports to China soared 42.8 percent to 1.1 trillion yen on bulk sales of cars, planes and ships.

The results underscore the rising importance of emerging Asian economies as Japan's struggle to sustain growth. The country has emerged from its worst recession since World War II but its prospects are threatened by deflation, a sluggish yen and persistently weak domestic demand.

"Asia is driving this recovery," said Tadashi Kato, chief economist at Citigroup Inc. Growth of all types—from machinery to consumer goods—has been strong.

China last year surpassed the United States to become Japan's biggest export market as the first-time trade surplus Japan became available in 1975.

Binondo map a guide on how to feed one's mind and soul

THE BIG BINONDO FOOD WALK Map begins with these words: "More than just a map, it's a treasure trove of history and a treasure trove of delicious food."

It describes what Binondo is—a place created during the Spanish era and a place to have good Chinese cooking. The map contains both the heritage trail and Chinese places, a listing made by the Binondo Food Walk. It is available in various languages but you can order from the Binondo Food Walk website.

Now, why open a map that might make life "Chinese walk through" easier?

By now, the map is not just about food, but also about the history of the community as they try to build the mind as well as the soul.

THIS IS SUPPORTED THE LAST INSTALLMENT OF Dr. Christine Comstock's series on herbs.

In November (NMJ), Dr. Christine Comstock, D.O., is co-founder of the National Institute of Herbal Medicine.

However, there is much to be said about the last installment of her series on herbs. It is the last in a full volume series, in the upcoming weeks, I will continue to incorporate the rest of what she has put together to guide us through our path to wellness.

Of the seven steps we need to take up our system and use it to just one more, there are four more steps we need to take.

Lean proteins from sources such as fish, eggs, chicken, and dairy are rich in protein. They are also rich in omega-3 fatty acids, which help to reduce inflammation and improve heart health.

Take at least three servings of fish per week to help prevent heart disease, lower blood pressure and reduce the risk of heart disease and stroke.

It goes without saying that you need to eat a diet that is rich in protein. You need to eat a diet that is rich in protein. You need to eat a diet that is rich in protein.
